

WORKS BY ESTHER

1. Books

- a. Forging Ahead: Recollections of the Life and Times of Esther Dartigue, co-authored with John Dartigue, CreateSpace (a subsidiary of Amazon.com), North Charleston, SC (2013)
- b. An Outstanding Haitian, Maurice Dartigue, Vantage Press, New York (1994)
- c. Un Haïtien exceptionnel Maurice Dartigue (An Exceptional Haitian Maurice Dartigue), Editions « J'Étais Une Fois », Paris (1992)

2. Articles

- a. "Le Féminisme en Haïti: 'Il était une fois quatre soeurs...'" (Feminism in Haiti: 'Once upon a Time There Were Four Sisters...'), appearing in the Bulletin of the Association France-Haïti, No. 36, Paris (May 1985)
- b. "Des nouvelles sur l'hôpital de la Communauté haïtienne à Pétionville" (News on the Hospital of the Haitian Community in Pétionville), in the Bulletin of the Association France-Haïti, No. 35, Paris (May 1984)
- c. "Nouvelles du projet F.H.A.S.E [Fondation haïtienne pour la santé et l'éducation]: Visite du site du futur hôpital de Frères" (News of the F.H.A.S.E. project [Haitian Foundation for Health and Education]: Visit to the Site of the Future Frères Hospital), in the Bulletin of the Association France-Haïti, No. 32 Paris (May 1981)
- d. "A Few Observations on Free Play and Language in the United Nations Nursery School and Kindergarten of Paris," in the Newsletter of the IPA (International Playground Association) (Volume IV, No. 4, September 1970, and later bound in Volume IV, 1969-1972)
- e. "Der Bilinguismus beim Kleinkind" (roughly, Bilingualism in Nursery School Children), in Mitteilungsblatt (July 1966), newsletter of the Association for Girls and Women's Education (Arbeitsgemeinschaft für Mädchen- und Frauenbildung e.V.), in Germany. It appears to be a summary of the talk she gave at the New Education Fellowship Conference (1965) or the ISA Bulletin article referred to below in (g)
- f. "Bilingualism in the Nursery School," in The French Review (February 1966), the magazine of the American Association of Teachers of French. Here the focus was on how French was "taught" in her school, which was essentially by osmosis (whatever the child wanted to pick up)

- g. "Rapport de Mme Esther Dartigue: Notre expérience au Jardin d'Enfants de l'ONU à Paris en ce qui concerne le bilinguisme" (Mrs. Dartigue's Report: Our Experience at the United Nations Nursery School in Paris as Concerns Bilingualism), in ISA Bulletin (January-February 1965). (ISA stands for International Schools Association.) This is taken from a talk she gave at the New Education Fellowship conference at the Institut National de Pédagogie in Paris in January 1965
- h. "Back to School," in Opinion, a UNESCO publication (1964, No. 3). It may well have been intended as a way of informing new UNESCO employees with young children about the school
- i. "Les Écoles Internationales" (The International Schools), transcription of a talk she gave at a national conference of 1400 French nursery school teachers, directors and inspectors that was also attended by 44 delegates of national committees of OMEP (World Organization of Early Childhood Education) in Nice, France (July 1962). It appeared in the conference's special publication, Journées Internationales
- j. "When the Nations Meet – in Kindergarten," in Child Study (Winter 1958-59)
- k. "Television Hits the Nursery School," possibly in Portfolio on Audio-visual Materials or in Childhood Education (1950). (A letter from the latter's outgoing editor indicates great interest in having the article appear in either publication, but neither may have happened, as there was a change in editors and no copy in her files.)
